GARRARD COUNTY DEPARTMENT.

Lancaster.

—Mike Ray was arrested last week for selling whisky on Sunday. The trial was set for Saturday, but sickness of Mr. Ray caused a continuance.

—Lewis Wallace, age 60, died suddenly at his home on Sugar Creek Thursday. He was strong and hearty. On county court day he was upon our streets attending to business.

—W. S. Miller has erected an iron lamp post at the corner of public square and Richmond street and uses gasoline for lighting purposes. It gives as good light as gas and is much cheaper. The Trustees would perform a good service by lighting up our streets in the same manner.

—The Christian Aid Society held a "pound party" at the Mason House Friday evening, which was largely attended. The society recently placed a beautiful colored glass window in their church and it is now considered one of the most convenient, as well as one of the most handsome houses of worship in our town.

—Mr. Chas. Spilman had—(?)—arrested for stealing two bound pups from him. The case was tried before Esquires Robinson and Dunn. He was sent to jail to await indictment, upon failure to give $150 bond. The sheep raisers think it had policy to go beyond the county limits to arrest any one for dog-stealing. This man had taken the pups to Woodford county, where he was arrested, and there was no possible danger of their raising the sheep in this county. It would be a good idea to give a premium to every man that removes a dog.

—Miss Daisy Burnside, of Stanford, is visiting relatives in town. Prof. Damon, of Harrodsburg, is visiting a class to whom he will give vocal lessons. Miss Louella Bright, of Stanford, is visiting at J. C. Thompson's. Fleece Robinson returned Friday from the South, where he spent the past winter. Misses Rhoda Hall and Maggie Newland have been visiting Mrs. Tom Palmer and attending the protracted meeting which closed last night. Ferguson, Burnside & Co., returned from Williamsburg Friday. Sport is not so fine there as it was two weeks ago. The boys had had luck. Mrs. T. A. Elkin received severe injuries Saturday afternoon from having the heel of her shoe catch on the step as she alighted from a buggy.

The rabbit is probably the most productive of the whole rodent genus; a single pair may be answerable for a population of half a million within five years. Originally natives of Spain, the rabbits once multiplied in that country, as well as in some of the islands of the Mediterranean in such an alarming manner that the people appealed for military aid to assist in their destruction. And it was not until numbers of ferrets and weasels were introduced that the rabbit population began to diminish. The quadrupeds of Australia are chiefly of the "marsupial" order, and from the kangaroo down to the wombat and kangaroo rat (both burrowers) nearly all the tribe are herbivorous. The dingy, or native dog, is destructive only to sheep, while the wild cat, though pretty common in some parts, is not generally prevalent. When, therefore, the rabbit was first landed in Australia the land was all before him where to choose. In the official Sydney market rate for January, 1873, the price of rabbits was quoted from 2 to 4 each, retail. Five or six years later they were looked upon as aggressive and destructive vermin and had so rapidly overrun large tracts of land as to become quite a nuisance to the squatters. To-day every phase of the Australian rabbit plague is not only regarded as of vital interest by the colonists, but is a subject of curiosity and discussion throughout the civilized world.

A glass-making firm in Pittsburg, Pa., has been manufacturing glass textile fabrics during the past twelve or eighteen months. A rod of glass several feet long and half an inch in diameter and heated to the proper degree, is attached at one end to a large, rapidly revolving wooden drum and thereby drawn out to a fine thread. This process is repeated till enough glass has been spun, when it is wound on bobbins and woven like cotton, flax or silk. The fabrics thus produced are very beautiful and pliable. The glass they are made of is made very soft by the addition of lead.

He was a young lawyer and was delivering his maiden speech. Like most young lawyers, he was florid, rhetorical, scattering and windy. For four weary hours he talked at the court jury, until everybody felt like lynching him. When he got through, his opponent, a grizzled old professional, arose, looked sweetly at the judge and said:

"Your Honor, I will follow the example of my young friend who has just finished and submit the case without argument." Then he sat down and the silence was large and appreciative.—[Opinion.]

DANVILLE, BOYLE COUNTY.

—Seven new suits have been filed in the Circuit Court clerk's office since Circuit Court adjourned in March.

—Mary, the little daughter of Thos. E. Bell, who has been suffering from pneumonia, following an attack of measles, is better this (Monday) morning.

—A fine colt by H. C. Mock's horse Rienza, was much admired on the street Monday morning. He was about a month old, a clear bay and the property of W. H. Robinson, of Mercer.

—There have been seventeen additions thus far to the First Presbyterian church, the result of the preaching of State evangelist Rev. E. O. Guerrant, who has been holding a meeting since Sunday week.

—Communion services were held in Trinity (Episcopal) church on Sunday, the day being the third Sunday after Lent. The rector, Rev. G. C. Sutton, preached here and at Harrodsburg on alternate Sunday. His home is at the latter place.

—Mr. J. S. Linney, our postmaster, has been re-elected chairman of the 8th republican district committee. This is Mr. Linney's third term as chairman of said committee. The appointment of Mr. Charles Stoll as Revenue Collector is satisfactory to the republicans here.

—The funeral of Mrs. Mattie Jones Neel, wife of Robert W. Neel, took place Saturday morning and was largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. John Augustus Williams, of Harrodsburg. Mrs. Neel was the youngest daughter of the late Col. D. W. Jones. She had been married less than a year.

—Sarah Faulkner, wife of Louis Faulkner, has purchased the old Dennis Dorman property on Main and Second streets, from the estate of her mother, Diadema Dorman, for $1,800. Workmen are engaged in modernizing and altering the building. There is to be a store room fronting on Main st.

—Henry Fry, whose peculiarly musical laugh has made him a widely known individual, was tried before Judge Lee Monday morning for using violent and abusive language toward another with an intention to provoke an assault. He was fined three dollars and required to pay the costs of the prosecution. Dudley Conover was the prosecuting witness.

—Hon. Wm. Berkeley, Representative from Garrard county passed through town Monday morning on his way to Frankfort. Rev. E. B. Hill and his bride, formerly Miss Parker, of Somerset, who have been visiting friends in Eastern Kentucky, returned on Saturday. Mr. Hill preached at the Broadway M. E. Church, of which he is pastor Sunday morning. Mr. J. W. Yerkes is in Paris visiting his brother, Prof. W. L. Yerkes, of that city. Mr. S. W. Morris and wife, Mr. R. A. Grimes, Jr., and Miss Rosa Lewis were at Gilches Sunday. Mr. Frank Harris, the cattle dealer, went to Lebanon Monday morning. He expects to make purchases in that vicinity and at New Hope.

—Mr. Peter McMullen arrived from Whitley, Tennessee, Friday night and registered at the Clemens House. Mr. McMullen was what is known as drunk when he disembarked from the passenger coach which brought him to our classic shades from the Sunny South. Mr. McMullen remained in the condition referred to until Saturday morning, when he fell against one of the fine plate glass windows in the office of the hotel and broke it. The glass cost $125, but Mac didn't have that amount of cash with him, he only had about $6. The hotel did not get anything for the broken glass, but the police court charged Mac $6 for being drunk. This hurt our hero's feelings so acutely that he thought there was no use in getting sober right away, so he remained drunk and is so even to this day.

There was to be a butting match in Colorado between a robust Swede and a negro. They were to start ten feet back from a scratch with their heads lowered, and rush at each other like rams, the collision to be repeated until one was disabled. At the last moment somebody whispered to the Swede what he had never heard before—that the African skull is generally deemed invulnerable under concussion that would smash a white man's. This destroyed his courage, and he dodged the woolly head that came plunging viciously at him. The negro, missing the expected resistance, was by momentum carried a rod against a fence, on which he was dangerously punctured.

It is expected that 200,000 head of cattle will be driven from Texas into Colorado this year, and that 50,000 more will come from other Western States. The calf crop of this year is about 250,000 and when all the new cattle are there, Colorado stock will amount to about 2,000,000. The largest purchasers of Texas cattle have been the Pryor Brothers, of Pueblo. They will drive 45,000 head into Colorado and to do this will require a force of 40 men and 400 horses. The journey will last from 60 to 90 days.

Table microscopes are coming into use. They are very convenient in families comparing the good deal of pie. By carefully parsing the crust a practiced eye, with the aid of the microscope, can easily detect the presence of any fruit that may have happened to get in between them.

Smart Weed and Belladonna combined with the other ingredients used in the best porous plasters make Carter's S. W. & B. Backache Plasters the best in the market. Price 25 cents.

PAINT LICK, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The corn planting season is about over in this vicinity.

—Mrs. Sallie Ward, of Crab Orchard is visiting the family of her brother, Mr. Will Ward. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lutes have returned home from a visit to Crab Orchard and Mrs. Scott Farris has gone to Covington to see her husband.

—If you want to trade horses call on Will Ward, corner of Main and Depot street. He will swap for anything that has a main and tail. He swapped three times the other day in less than two hours and it was not a good day for horse trading either.

—A war has opened up here in the carriage painting business. Mr. George Sebastian has opened a shop in opposition to Mr. E. B. Ely and they have commenced to cut at each other. The usual price for painting a buggy used to be from $10 to $15, but Mr. Ely says rather than be outdone he will do the work for $5.

—Badly needed at Paint Lick—a few more business and dwelling houses. There have been several persons here prospecting for business locations, but could not get houses to live in. If some enterprising man would buy the lot upon which the old tannery used to be and erect some good buildings upon it, it would pay him good interest on his money, besides adding very much to the appearance of our town.

"Well, son, did you get any cases to-day?" asked a father of a son who had been admitted to the bar about six months before.

"No, father; none yet. I am very much discouraged."

"Perhaps you don't use the proper method to get cases. You should never appear upon the streets without carrying in your hand a sheet of cap paper folded up so as to look like a legal document; rush about as if you were loaded down with business. When in your office and any one comes in, be busy writing out a deed or something, and when in court never fail to cock your feet upon the table, brush your hair and look wiser than the judge if you can. That is the way those fellows who succeed in law so well do it."

Karl Krom, a journalist, rode a bicycle from Detroit, Michigan, to Staunton, Va., a distance of 1,422 miles, at an average rate of 42 miles a day. On one day he made over 100 miles. One hundred miles in twelve hours has been done frequently. One hundred and twenty miles in ten hours' riding time has been often done. A ride of 230 miles without a dismount was done in England, and 1,404 miles in six days, riding eighteen hours a day. W. F. Sutton rode 260 miles over English road inside of 24 hours. An English tricycleist's record of road riding for the year 1883 amounted to 6,053 miles. In six years and a half the number of wheelmen in the United States has increased from 3 to 30,000. The best bicycling record of a mile from a flying start is 2:31 2/5.

The report is now current that Gov. Knott has declared his intention to Blackburnize the penitentiary if this Legislature does not adopt some measures of relief. The State prison is certainly a crying shame to our Commonwealth, but that fact is no reason why Gov. Knott should turn loose the offal therein upon society. The responsibility is not upon his shoulders. If the Legislature fails to do its duty, let that body bear the odium. Bad as it would be, it were a good deal better that a few of the jail birds should die than that honest people should suffer by them.—[Russellville Herald Enterprise.]

Never was a popular demand more emphatic, unmistakable and general than that which the democrats of Kentucky make for a revenue tariff. There is absolutely, so far as reported, no wavering or discordant note in their unanimous chorus. It comes from the heart of the people; it sounds the key of the champaign; it is the harbinger of a victory that is to emancipate a nation from commercial slavery. Kentucky is proud to stand where she has ever stood in this fight, at the head of the column and in the thick of the battle.—[Courier-Journal.]

Two ladies moving in the highest circles of Washington society, during a friendly meeting on the streets, got to quarreling about their age, and using strong language toward each other. At last, as if to end the dispute, one of them turned away, and said in a very conciliatory tone of voice: "Let us not quarrel over the matter any more. I, at least, have not the heart to do it. I never knew who my mother was; she deserted me when a baby, and who knows but that you may have been the heartless parent."

—James Paxton, who two years ago stole $2,000 from the Southern Express Company, has returned to Chattanooga and given himself up.

Where Don't is Very Good Advice.

Don't take a hornet's nest to see if any of the family are at home.

Don't try to take the right of way from an express train at a railroad crossing.

Don't go near a draft. If a draft comes near you, run away. A night draft is the most dangerous.

Don't blow in the gun your grandfather carried in the war of 1812. It is more dangerous now than it was then.

Don't hold a wasp by the other end while you throw it out in front of the stove to see if it is alive. It is generally alive.

Don't try to persuade a bulldog to give up a yard of which he is in possession. Possession to the bulldog is ten points of the law.

Don't call a very large, strong, sinewy man a prevaricator. If you are sure he is a prevaricator hire another man to break the news to him.

Don't allow the baby to drink the concentrated flye. Concentrated flye is dangerous, even in small doses, except to a man who is accustomed to drinking Baltimore whisky.—[Middletown (Del.) Transcript.]

GRAVEL FOR DYSPEPSIA.—A New York man dined at fancy restaurants so long that he contracted dyspepsia, he tried various remedies for it without avail, and consulted several high-priced doctors with not the slightest benefit. He then thought he would study nature and see if he could not find relief. He observed that chickens and other barnyard fowls were never troubled with indigestion to such an extent as to make them complain about it. He also observed that they swallowed large quantities of pebbles, sand, pieces of brick, and bits of glass with their food. He resolved to imitate their example. He did so with the best results. He used marble dust instead of salt on his beefsteak, and filled his pepper box with sand. Receiving so much benefit from these kinds of grit, he proceeded to swallow gravel and pieces of plastering. In a few months he was entirely cured. A "prominent physician" says gravel is undoubtedly good for dyspepsia, but that it should be taken under the direction of a doctor.—[New Orleans Times-Democrat.]

A Lafayette lady, after having looked under the bed every night for, for these many years, to find the hypothetical man there, actually found him the other night. It would be hard to say which was most surprised. They gazed in blank amazement for a moment. The fellow first found tongue, and said politely: "I am very sorry m'am to have frightened you. I was only here on business. It would be unpleasant if any one should come in and find you had a gentleman in your room—please don't mention it." He backed gently to the window, bowed himself out, and slid down a ladder into the outer darkness. The whole affair was accomplished so quietly and decorously that she forgot to scream.

In the old days no woman was allowed to desecrate the monastery of San Augustin, Mexico, by so much as putting her foot within its walls. A noble lady of Spain, wife of the reigning Viceroy, was bent on visiting it. Nothing could stop her, and in she came. But she found only empty cloisters, for each virtuous monk locked himself securely in his cell, and afterward every stone in the floor which her sacrilegious feet had touched was carefully replaced by new ones, fresh from the mountain top, before the pollution of her presence was considered removed. But times are sadly changed, and the house has been turned into a common hostelry.

One of our young men went into a cigar store the other day for a few of his favorite brand, and as a German Countess handed him his "Henry Clay" over the counter he observed:

"Henry Clay is dead."

"Is he?" replied the tender-hearted girl, "I was so sorry, for he did make good cigars."—[Oil City Derrick.]

Bourbon county has, in the last fifty years, invested over $200,000 in turnpikes and bridges and now has 48 turnpike roads aggregating 221 miles in length. During that time the county has received back in dividends over $35,000. This dividend is but a small part of the return the roads have made for the outlay by the county.
